6 TM HSE POLICY

Teledyne Marine is committed to providing the safest products and services through constant stewardship of the environment and the health and safety of our employees and customers. All aspects of our operation are conducted in the safest and most environmentally responsible manner possible.

We believe that incident prevention is everyone's responsibility. Each stakeholder is accountable for the prevention of incidents and has the authority to stop work if risks are identified. The participation and commitment towards maintaining safe work and safe products is mandatory to prevent pollution, injury and ill health.

We continually review and improve the effectiveness of our HSE Management System through execution of goals and objectives, verification of compliance with customer and legal requirements, and ISO 14001 & ISO 45001 standards.
